A FATAL FIRE early Saturday claimed the lives of Jeanette Boggs, 26, and her 1-year-old son, Johnnie L. Evans Jr., at 126 Garesche Homes, Madison. Both were found by Madison firefighters in an upstairs bedroom of the corner apartment and were pronounced dead at the scene.

A pregnant mother and child died early Saturday in a fire which destroyed their two-story apartment in Madison.

Jeanette Boggs, 26, and her son, Johnnie L. Evans Jr., 1-year-old, of 126 Garesche Homes, Madison, were pronounced dead at the scene at 3:30 a.m. Saturday by Madison County Deputy Coroner Edward Werner.

Johnnie L. Evans Sr., 34, who also was in the apartment at the time of the blaze, jumped to the ground from a second story window.

He escaped serious injury, but suffered burns to both hands and was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center, a Madison police spokesman said.

Madison firefighters responded to the call at 3:04 a.m. Saturday. Firemen remained at the scene and at 10 a.m. were still sifting through debris and recreating burn patterns. An investigation into the cause of the blaze was in progress.

According to the deputy coroner, the mother was found huddled in the back of a closet in an upstairs bedroom. Johnnie Jr. was found lying at the foot of the bed in the same room.

The victims were taken to Officer Funeral Home in East St. Louis.

Administration heads losing jobs — Cruse

By SUSAN SIGNAIGO-WEICH
Staff writer

A shake-up in the Granite City administration is planned by Mayor-elect Von Dee Cruse.

Those targeted in the changeover include Police Chief Ronald J. Veizer, Fire Chief Don Parente, City Inspector Emerald Dawes and City Safety Director Dick Portell.

According to Cruse, these mayoral appointees have been sent letters telling them they will not be reappointed. The changes are effective May 7, the night Cruse will be sworn in as mayor.

The mayor-elect said although Veizer and Parente will be removed from their administrative duties, they may retain their former rank with their respective departments.

Cruse emphasized none of the men were dismissed because of "charges" brought against them.

"On April 2, the people went to the polls and voted for a new administration — and that doesn't just mean a new mayor," Cruse said. "This is what they (the people) want."

Cruse said he does not think the change in appointees is "anything new" in government.

"I have an obligation to the people who elected me," Cruse said.

He added that "all" of Mayor Paul Schuler's appointments will be "gone over."

"I'm not saying they all will be removed," Cruse said. "I'm giving a lot of thought to each appointment."

Cruse said he has not made a decision as to who will replace those being relieved of their duties. He said he hopes to have names of the new appointees soon.

Dawes said Friday afternoon he had received the letter from Cruse.

"All's it says is that I will not be reappointed to my position," Dawes said.

He said although he is not happy about the letter, he expected to be asked to step down.

"When you're on the team that loses, you got to expect these things," Dawes said. "My man lost that's politics."

Dawes said Portell, who works in the same office as he does, received a similar-looking envelope in the mail.

"He's (Portell) not here to open it up, but it looks like he got one too," Dawes said.

Portell said earlier he talked to Cruse last week about the appointments. He said Cruse told him then he had not made up his mind.

Parente was on vacation and could not be reached concerning the letter. Veizer refused comment on Cruse's notice.

Other appointees who may be affected in the shake-up include the comptroller, the sewage treatment plant superintendent, humane department officers, the civil defense director, all city engineers, sanitation department employees, and fire and police commissions.

Others are Library Board members, Board of Appeals members, Plan Commission members, Board of Engineers members, Board of Local Improvement members, the city attorney, the assistant city attorney, the condemnation attorney and the board attorney.

Most aldermen contacted Friday were not surprised by the notices.

"I expected it," said Sharon Perjak, 4th Ward alderman. "I think the people voting more or less told the

April 15 taxing experience for those late filers

By DAVE WHALEY

Staff writer

April. The baseball season is starting, the long, cold winter is drawing to a close, the flowers are just about ready to bloom...and your income tax is due.

Tomorrow at midnight. Oh, no.

To many, April 15 is a scarier day than Halloween. Ghosts, goblins and ghouls can't send a chill up the spine like the long form, W-2s and Schedule Ds.

But, we all have to do it sometime. There are those who get everything organized in mid-February and have it done completely right in a couple of calm, quiet evenings.

Then there are those who start thinking about taxes on April 13, and, 48 frenzied hours later, find themselves standing in line at the post office with others of their kind at 11:57 p.m. on the 15th.

Here are some random thoughts on the government's big pay day.

To ease the burden just a little bit, there is one thing you should know. Be out of the country on April 15.

That won't really get you out of paying income taxes, but it will delay it for two months. That's right. If you're out of the country on April 15, you don't have to file or pay until June 15. You will owe interest, but no penalty, and you don't have to file any forms in advance to get the "stay of execution." And in the case of a joint return, only one spouse must be away.

So if you've been thinking about that trip to Europe, tomorrow could be the time to do it. But you need to be back by June 15. You only get one delay.

You can also get a four-month extension for filing, but you still have to pay an estimated tax. Just file Form 4868 by April 15 and pay the estimate. But if you pay less than 90 percent of your actual tax, a one-half percent per month "failure-to-pay" penalty will apply.

As far as providing other tax tips, forget it. The whole process is so complicated that most people are lucky to get through it with their minds intact.

It makes one wonder how things got so complicated. The people in ancient Rome paid taxes, no doubt, but surely it wasn't as complicated as this.

But then again, look what happened to them — maybe it was because of an inadequate tax system.

One wonders if Roscoe Egger Jr. has any trouble with his taxes. If you don't know who Roscoe is, he is the commissioner of the Internal Revenue Service.

He has written a little note on the cover of the booklet of forms and instructions which makes the whole thing seem so nice and painless.

"Thank you for your cooperation," he concludes his note. It's like we have a choice in the matter.

Who does he complain to if he gets burned? For some reason, I don't think he ever has any problems with his taxes. He probably has Henry Block do it for him — personally.

And why not? Only Rubik's Cube is harder than wading through all those forms. Let's see, there's the regular 1040 Form, Schedule A for itemized deductions, Schedule B for interest and dividend income, Schedule D for capital gains and losses, and Schedule E, your form for supplemental gains and losses.

(What happened to Schedule C? It was too easy. They threw it out.)

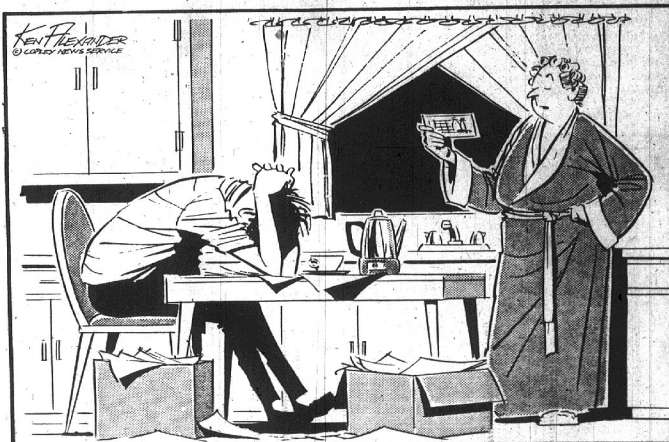

And that's just at the front of the regular booklet.

And there are nine "important tax law changes" on page two. The government must figure we catch on to the way things are done one year, so some changes have to be made to keep us interested the next.

What they don't know is we never do catch on to the way things are done, so the changes really don't mess us up. We are already messed up.

For example, did you know that, according to a release from the IRS District Office in Springfield, a return can not be processed unless Line 1 of Part 1 of Form 5695 (Residential Energy Credit) is answered. The question is, "Was your principal residence substantially completed before April 20, 1977?" Where did that date come from?

But my favorite is a statement from the office that Form 1310, Statement of Person Claiming Refund Due a Deceased Taxpayer,

"IT'S FROM THE IRVINGS... THEY GOT THEIR REFUND A MONTH AGO AND THEY'RE SPENDING IT IN ITALY!"

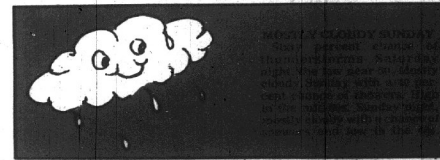

must be attached to the return of a taxpayer who has died. The release said the form is either not being attached or, when attached, is not completed or not signed. If they can get the deceased to complete, sign and attach the form, more power to them.

Well, they say the only things for sure are death and taxes. Happy filing!

Congressmen should check credentials of exiled groups

WASHINGTON — Members of Congress are often too busy to check the credentials of exile groups with strange-sounding names who come around soliciting support for their apparently noble causes. A few tears, some shocking photographs, and your average representative will gladly endorse the humanitarian effort in whatever faraway place.

Jack Anderson

When they read this, a couple of hundred members of Congress may be stunned to learn that they have been played like a Stradivarius by a slick group of Iranian exiles claiming to be "freedom fighters" against the tyranny of Ayatollah Khomeini.

But the State Department has privately been trying to warn Congress that the group is actually a gang of Marxist terrorists who boasted of murdering American military officers in Iran and claimed credit for an active part in the seizure of the American Embassy in 1979.

In fact, a State Department report points out that the group wanted the hostages tried as spies and staged a protest demonstration when they were finally released in January 1981.

The Iranian terrorist group styles itself the "People's Mojahedin Organization of Iran," and that sounds like the Mujahideen guerrillas who are fighting the Soviet invaders in neighboring Afghanistan.

But as the State Department notes in an intelligence summary, the Iranian Mojahedin in fact opposes the Afghan freedom fighters and is every bit as anti-American as it is anti-Khomeini.

Indeed, The Mojahedin initially supported Khomeini, hoping to pervert his revolution into a sort of Marxist-oriented Moslem fundamentalism. Before its falling out with Khomeini, the leftist group cited "U.S. imperialism" and "criminal Zionism" as "the principal forces which have corrupted Iran and oppressed the world."

In short, the Iranian Mojahedin would be unlikely to win the support of any member of Congress if they truthfully stated their goals and background.

"They made a whole human rights pitch," recalled an aide to Sen. Quentin Burdick, R-N.D., one of the 200 who agreed to sign letters lending support to the Mojahedin. The aide said she hadn't heard from the State Department — and obviously hadn't bothered to check to find out about the group.

Actually, we first exposed the Iranian Mojahedin as the murderers they are last August, reporting that they had already hoodwinked several members of Congress. We even listed the names of four American officers the Mojahedin had bragged of assassinating.

The Mojahedin salesmen simply redoubled their efforts on Capitol Hill. One even had the nerve to come to our office to spin his human-rights yarns. When our associate Lucette Lagnado began asking about his group's anti-American rhetoric and the murders of the U.S. officers, he smoothly dismissed them.

PEACE BRIBE? As the war between Iran and Iraq drags on with steadily mounting casualties, some Arab leaders are discussing the idea of offering the Ayatollah Khomeini a bribe to call off the hostilities.

Iranian officials have been saying for a few years that the conflict would not end until they were paid $150 billion in war reparations. That figure has been quietly lowered to $50 billion, and now Kuwait is spearheading a behind-the-scenes effort to raise the money. Khomeini, however, would have to drop his insistence that Iraqi President Saddam Hussein be ousted.

EXPENSIVE MISTAKE: The Comptroller General recently ruled that a Secret Service agent had to make up the $1,000 that was stolen when he carelessly let his shoulder bag out of his sight while buying a ticket at the Bogota, Colombia airport. The agent was to have used the cash as an advance payment on a consignment of counterfeit bills at his destination.

Work for PR firms good in Washington

One of the better jobs in Washington these days is working for a public relations firm. There are hundreds of them all over the city and anyone with a decent name in the government can find a home at one — at triple his or her present salary.

There was a time when PR companies worked cheaply and secretly for their clients. Now they charge enormous fees and get their names in the newspapers as frequently as the people they're supposed to publicize.

What do PR firms in Washington do to earn their money? I dropped in on Robert Flack, founder of one of the hottest firms in the business. Among those listed as vice president on Flack's door are two retired assistant secretaries of state, the wife of a congressman, an ex-presidential advance man, a South American general and the former emperor of Tsuboland.

Flack's large penthouse office overlooks the White House.

"Boy," I said. "You have some power."

He smiled as he pointed out the window. "Some of the happiest days of my life were spent in the Rose Garden over there."

Art Buchwald

"I'll bet you miss it," I said. He sighed. "It's only a stone's throw away and the old man said I can smell the flowers anytime I want to. What can I do for you?"

"There's been a lot of stuff about Washington PR firms in the papers lately and I was curious. Why the high profile?"

"Well, first and foremost, we need clients who can afford our services. In order to get them we have to make sure everyone is aware that we know the right buttons to push. Excuse me just a moment...Miss Blackwell, if Ed Meese calls tell him I'm still out to lunch...What were you saying?"

"On the client buying access to people in power?"

"Let's get this straight. I never mention my White House or Hill connections to get a client. I don't want them to think I can open any powerful doors for them just because I'm asking for a six-figure retainer."

"Then why do you have that autographed photo of Tip O'Neil on your desk?"

"It makes me feel good just to look at him."

"How about the one next to it of Nancy Reagan?"

"Nancy gave it to me, and I'm scared to death she's going to walk in here one day and not find it."

"Okay, so you don't use your government connections for your business. What do you do for your clients?"

"Hold it," he said. "Miss Blackwell, call Caspar Weinberger and tell him he looked great on the Ted Koppel show last night."

"You know Caspar Weinberger?" I asked.

"I never talk about anybody in Washington that I know," he said. "Back to my business. What we do is present our client's image in the best light. That does not mean we lie or are dishonest. But there are a lot of sides to every story. Here's a perfect example," he said, holding up a photo of dead people lying in the street.

"A foreign government retained us because American television kept showing their troops shooting demonstrators. We immediately put out the story that the only reason the people were shot was because demonstrations are forbidden in the country and the people were breaking the law."

"Didn't President Reagan say that about South Africa at his press conference a few weeks ago?"

"We had nothing to do with that," he protested. "South Africa isn't our client."

"I didn't say it was. So what do you do besides make bad countries look good?"

"We don't make bad countries look good. We make strong countries look good. We also represent U.S. industries under attack from the government, and create favorable climates for businessmen who are going to be indicted by a federal grand jury. We provide junkies for the media and will even write their stories and film their TV news spots for them. America couldn't have an informed public without people like us."

"I believe it. Thanks for your time."

"Don't mention it. Oh, by the way, if you see Henry Kissinger out in the waiting room tell him I haven't forgotten he's there."

Greatness to spare

Edmund Burke said it of our nation's founders:

"It was a time in the affairs of men when we had greatness to spare."

It is such a time again. Any American around long enough to have grandchildren remembers there were so few "giants" around that a Winston Churchill appeared to tower over a world that was up to its ankles in pygmies.

But something has happened since to spawn a generation of worthy leaders.

The political mischief of the 1960s and 1970s eventuated in legislation so punitive that it was feared "good men would no longer seek public office."

"On the contrary — on the present scene and on the horizon and in both parties — there are men and women of demonstrated leadership qualities."

Seldom has a vice president been better prepared for executive authority than George Bush.

He makes jokes about his ceremonial duties at foreign funerals: "You die, I fly." Yet his ongoing association and negotiation with others of the world's leaders and wife Bob Dole qualifies.

Rep. Jack Kemp, on his way up, has done everything right. Among Democrats, New York's Gov. Mario Cuomo is a spellbinding orator and capital administrator. If he wins his re-election next year with impressive numbers, he becomes a front-runner for the Presidency.

Among our nation's govern-

Paul Harvey

nors, several look good. Republican James Thompson of Illinois. Democrat Bruce Babbitt of Arizona.

Babbitt sees his party presently shattered, scattered, in need of new leadership to conform to the now appetite for traditional values.

These paragraphs are insufficient even to skim the cream of worthy contenders.

One would have to include Democrats Lamm, Hart, Jackson, White, Graham.

One would have to include Republicans Baker, Lehman, Armstrong.

I have not included Ted Kennedy because he remains aligned with the liberal leadership of the party which was so ignominiously rejected last year.

I have not included television evangelists Falwell and Robertson, though they are methodically building enormous constituencies.

In his magnificent score for "Vagabond King," Rudolph Friml wrote, "Give me 10 who are stout-hearted men and I'll soon give you 10,000 more."

That is the way it works, you know. Strong leadership inspires stronger leadership, if only by osmosis.

Aiding fight against cancer

To the Editor:

Today the future is more hopeful. Scientists are continually making progress against cancer detection and treatment.

About 50 drugs have been found effective against certain cancers, and others that are being tested hold promise. Surgery is now more precise because of improved diagnostic equipment, and rehabilitation is improved through advances in plastic surgery.

We are asking that people help the Quad-City Unit of the American Cancer Society continue the fight against cancer. Gifts provide free services to cancer patients in the Granite City area. Loan of sickroom equipment, transportation to treatment centers, dressings, rehabilitation and information services are provided by our volunteers.

We help educate people about early detection — the best way to save lives. Our volunteers are able to provide a cancer awareness program.

We also aid the training of medical professionals in the latest methods of diagnosis and treatment.

Setting record straight

To the Editor:

I would like to set the record straight regarding the blacktopping of certain roads in Nameoki Township.

In order to do this job, money has to be procured from other sources, not from the Road and Bridge tax levies.

The supervisor had Community Development money allocated to areas that qualified, and he designated this money to upgrade drainage and road conditions.

The highway department with its equipment and men did the work in order to stretch the amount of upgrading this money would do. In my opinion, we got a lot done for Nameoki Township.

Commissioner Adams has stated that he will continue these projects.

Opposes contractor law

To the Editor:

I am urging all small contractors to send Illinois senators and Illinois representatives a letter of disgust and disapproval of Senate Bill 1664, Public Act 83-513.

This bill becomes effective July 1, 1985. If this bill is allowed and not rejected, small home improvement contractors that put roofs on the structures they build will not be able to operate.

This bill was passed without your representation before the Illinois legislature.

I urge all to condemn this law and also write senators (U.S.) Dixon and Simon. Congressman Melvin Price, also.

I have already taken this action. Do you want a state government destroying our free enterprise system?

Venice board greets new member

By VALERIE EVENDEN
of the Press-Record

David Levy was formally seated as a member of the Venice Board of Education at its meeting Thursday night.

Levy, 31, a co-partner in the Venice Gas and Oil Co. and a 1971 graduate of Venice High School, was appointed to the board March 28 to complete the unexpired term of Malthe Meehan, who resigned Feb. 28.

"I want to welcome you on behalf of the board and we hope you will find it an enjoyable experience and an opportunity to learn," Board President Wilbert Glasper said. "We encourage you to participate and all of us (board members) are at your disposal if you need questions answered."

Superintendent of Schools Robert N. Vickers offered assistance to the newest board member in acquiring information about operations of the district.

"It is the main responsibility of the board to make the policies which we (administrators) carry out," Vickers said.

"You will be called on from time to time to make decisions which are not popular, but you must try to make such decisions for the benefit of the whole school district."

It appears the district's financial picture is much better this year than it has been for some years, Vickers told the board.

"We are projecting now that we will not have to borrow money (through tax anticipation warrants) for the education fund for the remainder of the current fiscal year."

"If we get the corporate personal property replacement tax money in time, we may not have to approve new borrowing or use any previously authorized warrants for building fund expenditures, either," the superintendent said. Replacement taxes are received by the district eight times a year, he noted.

The district's transportation fund also is fairly healthy, Vickers said.

"We appear to have no problem in the transportation fund and there are not very many school districts in that position," he said.

Two $10,000 time certificates in transportation fund money are held by the district.

The possibility of an increase next year in state school aid, if Gov. James R. Thompson's recommendation to the legislature is accepted, was reported by Vickers, who estimated an extra $50,000 may be received by the district.

Speaking of staffing prospects, Vickers said the district would like to hire an additional teacher next year in order to split the current first grade, consisting of 40 pupils, into two second grade classes.

Enrollment projections for the first and second grade levels in 1985-86 presently are being compiled by the principals to clarify the outlook.

At present there are about 38 youngsters in kindergarten.

"We have 35 pupils in the 8th grade but we are fairly comfortable. It's hard to split that number, as that would make about 17 in each class (if split). If one or two were absent, it would leave a teacher with only 15 youngsters," Vickers said.

Park district annexes land

The Granite City Park District has approved annexation of territory located near Highway 3 and Pontoon Road. The annexation was ratified by the city in January.

Changes in the minimum wage law and the hiring of summer employees also were topics. The new minimum wage law requires state and local governments to conform with the federal government in paying employees a minimum of $3.35 per hour, plus time and one-half for all hours worked over 40 in a week.

On recommendations from David Nolan, director of parks, the board approved hiring of 99 summer employees.

Because of a decline in organization participation, the July 4 concession stand and space rental charge has been lowered. Last year, a group paid $50 for space and $10 for stand rental. This year, space rental is $40 and stand rental remains at $10.

Other approvals by the board included requests from the Boy Scouts of America to use Wilson Park for a day camp June 17 and June 24; the Tri-City Area YMCA to use Wilson Park for a summer day camp program; and Ed Boyer of the Knights of Columbus to use the perimeter of Wilson Park from 29th and 36th streets to the ice rink parking lot for a "Walk for Life" event May 11.

A resolution to honor the high school ice hockey team was approved. Champions of the North Division for the 1984-85 season and second-place finishers in the league playoffs, the players "started their careers at an early age in ice skating at the park district's 'Learn to Skate' program and have been members of the Granite City Amateur Hockey Association."

SIUE editor expects to keep her job

By DAVE WHALEY
Staff Writer

The editor of the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville campus newspaper said Friday she is confident she will be able to retain her job, despite a threat to remove her.

Norma Mendoza, 40, of Granite City said she only needs to complete a story by Monday to fulfill requirements to continue as editor of the Alestie.

Mendoza received a letter from Dean of Students Constance Rockingham April 4 citing a university policy requiring the editor to maintain full-time student status (12 credit hours) each quarter.

She had received an "incomplete" in one of the three four-credit hour courses she took last quarter.

But Mendoza felt the warning was made because the Alestie had been critical of the school administrators.

"The school's advisory board had recommended a fee increase for the student legal services program," Mendoza said. "The student council was opposed to it and there was some confusion."

"Most of the criticism was due to the confusion. I wrote an editorial assuming Dean Rockingham hadn't received a report from the president of the student council. I wondered why the president of the council had not sent it to her, but it turned out he had. I then wondered why she had not received it if it was sent to her."

The editorial was dated April 2 and Mendoza received the letter from Rockingham April 4. Mendoza doesn't anticipate any problems once she turns in the paper Monday.

"It's not really a paper," she said. "It's more like a regular journalism story." The story concerns the sewer problems in Granite City.

Mendoza said she was surprised anyone could question her academic qualifications, because she had received a scholarship from the St. Louis Journalism Foundation recently, as well as one of 50 scholarships given by the Gannett Foundation.

"Dean Rockingham was not aware of those at the time she wrote the letter, but she certainly had access to my record and my grade point average," Mendoza said.

She maintains a 4.9 grade point average on a 5-point scale.

"I think there is also some confusion about an 'incomplete' grade," she said. "When a student receives an incomplete, he or she has a year to finish the course, and I just received the grade last quarter."

Mendoza said she anticipates finishing her work by Sunday night, and turning it in Monday.

"But I probably won't get official word until 8 a.m. Tuesday," she said.

Mendoza said she spends about 30 hours a week working at the paper, and gets $470 a month for the job.

She said the job is completed for every year, but said she has no intention of trying to continue as editor when the job is open again in June.

She is looking to serve an internship somewhere this summer.

Rockingham denied she was seeking Mendoza's dismissal as part of any retaliation for criticism in the paper, adding that she was merely upholding the school's policy.

Cruse lops off department heads mayor (elect) what they expected of him. They want a fresh organization."

Alderman Lloyd Bailey, 5th Ward, said he knew some of the appointees were going to go.

"I didn't know which ones were going though," Bailey said. "It was decided by him (Cruse)."

Casmer Skubish, 2nd Ward alderman, said he wishes to study the situation and see who the replacements will be before commenting.

"I did think, though, that we had smooth-running police, fire and ambulance departments," Skubish said.

Alderman Sam Whitmer, 2nd Ward, expressed surprise. He said more will be said about the situation after Cruse is installed as the new mayor.

First Ward Alderman Everett Morlen questioned the legality of removing the department heads. He said there have been some changes in the law, not only affecting state employees but also city appointees.

He said in a Southern Illinois city recently, the mayor tried to remove a fire and police chief, but later had to reinstate them.

Cruse said he thinks he has every legal right to appoint different department heads and department members.

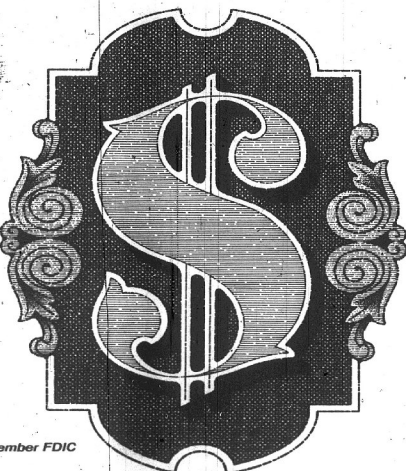

"I think this is clear from my reading of the city ordinances," Cruse said. "The mayor has the right to appoint."

"There is no doubt in my mind. If they (those not being reappointed) feel legally that I'm wrong, they have the right to do what they want to."

Cruse added Schuler made several new appointments when Schuler became mayor 12 years ago.

Health fair slated April 24

On Wednesday, April 24, area residents can receive health screenings, counseling and educational materials during St. Elizabeth Medical Center's Health Fair '85, from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m., beginning in the Kaender's Pavilion (main lobby).

"Health Fair '85 provides, at a low cost to the individual, an opportunity to gather information about preventive health services, nutrition, exercise, self-examination, warning signs and early detection," said Jack Grieves, SEMC vice president and site coordinator.

"Not meant as a replacement for physical examination, Health Fair '85 provides the means for people to receive free medical tests for such things as anemia, blood pressure, height, weight, diabetes, respiratory ailments and vision.

"Two blood chemistry tests will be available again this year. The basic blood test will cost $10 and the basic test plus a coronary risk profile will cost $15."

Individuals are asked to fast eight hours before taking the blood test and 12 hours before taking the basic plus coronary risk profile, drinking only water, plain coffee or tea and avoiding cream or sugar. Senior citizens taking the tests may drink water to avoid dehydration, diabetes should not fast.

"If participants have eaten, the test can still be taken," said Grieves. "However, the results will not be as accurate."

All test results will be mailed to health fair participants — not to their physicians.

This year's health fair exhibits will be manned by such groups as Hospice, Epilepsy Foundation, Dietary, Children & Family Services, Cardiac Rehab, American Cancer Society, Talbot Hall, Al-Anon Family Group, Lifeline, Alcoholics Anonymous, American Lung Association, Diabetes Foundation, American Heart Association, Madison-St. Clair Counties Pharmacy Association, Quad-Cities Mental Health Services and Medicare-Glaser Corp.

Since Health Fair '85 organizers are expecting a much larger turnout this year than in the past, special planning has gone into designing a more convenient traffic pattern.

"This year we are going to have more volunteers working in the blood pressure and blood chemistry testing area. This will help eliminate backlogs of people waiting for tests," said Grieves.

"It will also save time if individuals bring the name and address of their physician with them to the fair."

The busiest hours of the fair are between 8 a.m. and noon. Individuals, who can, are asked to wait until the afternoon hours to attend.

Free parking and adequate seating will be available, Grieves said.

Health Fair Week is scheduled for April 21-27 throughout the St. Louis metropolitan area.

This is the sixth year St. Elizabeth Medical Center has participated in Health Fair Week. For information, the SEMC Public Relations Department may be contacted at 798-3167.

Business Women note 63 years of service

Joyce Bennington, president of the Granite City Business and Professional Women, will preside at a monthly dinner meeting at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday, April 17, at Charlie's Restaurant.

The chairman of public relations, Florence Moore, said the club will honor past presidents, celebrate the organization's 63rd-year anniversary, and present a guest speaker, Rosanna Herren, assistant to the provost at the Granite City Center of Belleville Area College.

Herren will give an informational slide presentation on GCC and tell how the Center helps women. People of all ages and all walks of life are attending for re-entry into the job market, upgrading present positions or planning career changes.

A short presentation will be given by Dolores Allen on the history of GCBPW. Its 63rd anniversary was April 7. On that date in 1922, the club received its charter and became affiliated with the Illinois and national federations.

It was the second club to be chartered in District XIV.

The National Federation was founded in July 1919 in St. Louis. The local club was formed years later with 23 charter members.

Mrs. Clara Needles, a local club woman, first suggested meeting with the East St. Louis BPW on Oct. 12, 1921, and it was after that session that GCBPW was organized with the assistance of the East St. Louis members.

Through the years the club has been involved and continues to be involved in community projects.

Some of the projects accomplished follow: a park on the lot where the City Hall now stands, maintained at a cost of $300 a year; changing of street designations from letters to full names, at a cost of $1,600 financed by the club to change and erect new street signs in Granite City.

Presentation of an Encyclopedia of Painters and Paintings to the new GC Public Library Board; an employment bureau for members until 1929; in conjunction with other local groups, the establishment of mail service in Tr-City Park; funds for school's hot lunch project; support of the "Rivers and Harbors" bill as a benefit to the community; and World War II representation on the Civilian Defense Council, USO Council and Post-War Planning Commissions of Granite City and Madison.

GCBPW championed a movement toward organizing a Hospital Auxiliary, and donated $312 to furnish a room at St. Elizabeth Hospital. A club member served in 1948 on the City Planning Commission.

In 1949, table tennis tables and all equipment were provided for the Madison Teen Town and Madison Recreation Center.

The club contributed $100 and became a member of the Granite City High School Scholarship Foundation in 1953. This board membership is still maintained.

The group helped obtain approval for a new post office and aided the Shriner's Crippled Children's Hospital, Salvation Army Building Fund and Madison County Nursing Home.

Three members have served in the city government, one as a justice of the peace, another as the first alderwoman in Granite City and one currently on the Library Board.

The membership of 51 is headed by President Joyce Bennington, an insurance broker for Froemling Agency.

Meetings are held each third Wednesday and any working person is invited to attend. Information on the dinner is available from Joyce Bennington at 876-2224 or Florence Moore at 797-0220.

Water slide bids open this month

By RACHEL NEWSOME

Lee Park water slide construction is scheduled to begin at the end of this month. Venice Park Board President Arnold Johnson said at Thursday night's meeting.

Opening of contractors' bids for furnishing and installing the water slide is set for April 17 at 1 p.m. and bids for general contractors will be opened April 25 at 1 p.m. Contractors may be present at the bid opening but no action will be taken at those times.

A special meeting on the initial bids is set for April 18 at 6:30 p.m.

The board voted in January 1983 for a bond issue referendum and the plan was approved by residents in a 605 to 536 vote.

The board ratified sale of $200,000 bonds for the water slide project at a special meeting on Sept. 1, 1984.

The plan includes a twisting water slide that will cost about $85,000, a combination bathroom and concession building at $35,000 and an adult bumper-boat area at $15,000 to $25,000.

Funds will also be used to renovate such areas as the tennis courts, playground and ball diamond for $50,000.

In other action, the board approved hiring Robert Wigfall, superintendent of parks, on a full-time basis for the summer. Further approval was given to hire three employees for a two-week period to assist Wigfall in preparing park facilities for the season.

The board also ratified hiring a park manager on a full-time basis.

"I can't justify the need for a full-time manager. Maybe, if we have the money, but I'm not for raising taxes," said the Rev. John Henry Williams in response to the action.

"We won't have to raise taxes. There are areas in the budget we can cut out. There are areas we've got money appropriated for that we don't ever use," Johnson said.

Further action was tabled until a job description can be developed at a personnel meeting.

Johnson also told park commissioners the district has purchased a tractor for $3,000, a mower for $2,000 and a used truck for $700.

If you are installing a furnace, consider this: an electric heat pump is over 150% energy efficient and provides both heating and air conditioning. This means substantial savings on your utility bill, month after month, year after year.

An electric heat pump delivers much more energy efficiency than even the most advanced oil, propane or gas furnaces. During the summer, the heat pumps acts like a central air conditioning system to cool the entire house. In cold weather, the heat pump gathers the sun's warmth from outdoor air, concentrates it and circulates it throughout your home.

Guide part of crusade

By VALERIE EVENEDEN
Staff writer

Melba Mehelec and Sylvia Theis will head this year's Cancer Crusade in the residential areas of Granite City, Madison, Venice, Mitchell and Fronton Beach. It was announced this week by Lucy Lucido, 1985 Cancer Crusade chairman for the Quad-City area.

The April crusade will emphasize prevention of cancer, according to the Rev. Don F. Pierson, information chairman for the campaign. "Some profound changes in dealing with cancer have come with the knowledge that 60 percent of all cancers can be prevented," he said.

"Research into the cause of the disease continues in a massive way and the results of this research will be shared in the April crusade."

Sister Mary Louise Moser, chairman of the American Cancer Society's Quad-City Unit, reinforced the minister's comments.

"This year's campaign will focus on dietary and lifestyle guidelines designed to help individuals reduce their risk in developing cancer," she said. The statewide goal is $8,337,000.

"We are particularly excited to serve as area residential leaders in the crusade since the brochure—'An Anti-Cancer Guide You Can Love'—will be distributed, the two residential leaders said.

"We believe the brochure will be a powerful resource for those wishing to prevent cancer and it will be distributed throughout the community by door-to-door volunteers."

The guide will mention the fruits, vegetables and whole-grain foods that may prevent cancer.

Pierson said, "This information is from research made possible by past crusades and public contributions. It is a giant step in public health."

Widely varied services are provided locally for cancer patients through the crusade.

Donations also provide research grants, public education programs, rehabilitation and professional education associated with cancer research.

Chosen as contractor

Terex Corp., a Houston-based development firm, has named S.M. Wilson & Co. of Granite City and St. Louis as general contractor of "Westchase Point," a $30 million hotel, commercial and residential project in O'Fallon, Ill. Construction of the project is scheduled to begin this month.

Revival will begin

A revival will begin Monday, April 15, and go through Sunday night, April 21, with Larry Wilson and the Psalms Messengers appearing at 7:30 nightly at the Old Time Pentecostal Church, 2137 Bryan Ave. There will be singing and preaching every night.

LOIS JANE HUDDLESTON

Lois Jane slated at Grace Baptist

Lois Jane Huddleston will appear and sing in all services at Grace Baptist Church during a gospel crusade today through Wednesday, April 17.

Huddleston has been singing since she was 3 years old. She has appeared with country music stars, including Merle Haggard, Mel Tillis and Dolly Parton.

At 16, she was billed as a "teenage star," singing gospel music and appearing on television.

She received many business opportunities, "but I always knew the Lord wanted me to sing His music," Huddleston recalls.

In addition to her, the Rev. Stan Howlett will speak at 7 p.m. Monday and Bill Murray, son of Madelyn Murray O'Hair, will speak at 7 p.m. Wednesday. Adult night begins at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday, featuring Huddleston and an international dinner. Services tonight begin at 7.

Stage band honored

The Granite City High School Stage Band, competing in the second annual "Jazz Band Festival" at Southern Illinois University at Carbondale last week, achieved top honors by winning first place ratings.

Band Director Joseph E. Owens said, "It was a rewarding day for the students and for me. I was extremely proud of them and the way they performed."

Initially, the youthful musicians attended a jazz improvisation clinic given by Jamey Abersold, a noted saxophonist.

Each student then participated in a clinic relating to his or her specific instrument, presented by members of the SIUC faculty.

GCIS also presented three individual selections, featuring various members.

Performers were Kevin Haddock on tenor saxophone playing "Never on Sunday," "Lost Star" spotlighting Steve Branding on tubelhorn, and "Los Alibabes," which afforded James Gill, trombone, Haddock, tenor saxophone, and Matt Roe, percussion, an opportunity to perform.

The day ended with a performance by the SIUC Stage Band under the direction of Robert Allison. Interpretation and phrasing of music—in good style and arrangements suited to the band's capabilities—were aspects of the competition earning the highest ratings for the local musicians.

Judges were Tom Birkner, jazz instructor at the University of Illinois, Brett Stamps, jazz instructor at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, and Harold Miller, bass instructor at SIUC.

The GCIS Stage Band Ensemble will present a concert and music for dancing at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, May 30, in the high school cafeteria, Owens announced.

Priest fights for unborn

Arentsen calls arrests 'very easy' compared to suffering of saints

By SUSAN SIGNAIGO-WEICH
Staff writer

It's almost a ritual.

A slight man, distinguished only by a priest's collar, pickets in front of the Hope Clinic for Women Ltd. Police arrive, he is asked to leave, he refuses and is arrested.

The 68-year-old man pleads innocent to a charge of criminal trespass to property and is released on a recognizance bond and $2 bail.

The arrest, March 16, marked at least the seventh for the Rev. Edwin F. Arentsen.

"When you believe in God and believe that he expects the babies to be saved, you should not be afraid," Arentsen said.

To police, his is just another arrest, to others he is a fanatic, but to some, including his own bishop, he represents an admirable cause.

"While I may not always concur with the methods or tactics used by Father Arentsen and other Pro-Life groups, I do wholeheartedly agree with their basic premise and the bottom line — protecting the life of the unborn and life at all stages," the Most Rev. James P. Keleher, bishop of the Belleville Diocese said.

Arentsen's anti-abortion crusade started quietly in Wendelin, with sermons about the issue to his Holy Cross parishioners. That's when the controversy began.

Some Holy Cross parishioners complained to Bishop William Cosgrove, then head of the Belleville Diocese, about Arentsen's repeated sermons concerning abortion.

The bishop asked Arentsen to step down in 1978. Although Arentsen admits to complaints about his sermons, the clergyman said this was not the full reason he was asked to step down.

"Let's just say Bishop Cosgrove was liberal-minded and I am of a conservative nature," he said. "So to restore peace in the parish, I was asked to step down."

Three days later, Arentsen had a police record, after being charged with disorderly conduct by Granite City police during his first picketing of the Hope Clinic. Arentsen said he has always been pro-life, but he was previously confined by his parish duties, which kept him from following his conviction to the point of being arrested. Before leaving his parish, he said he campaigned against abortion only through letters.

Arentsen said he was attracted to the Granite City clinic because of advertisements he had seen for the facility in local newspapers and because the clinic was, at that time, the closest to his home. He lives in a modest farmhouse outside Addicksville, about 30 miles southeast of Granite City.

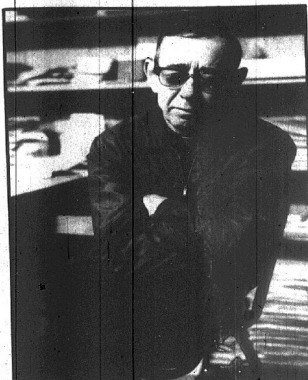

The priest said he went to the facility on Jan. 19, 1978, expecting to be arrested.

He has continued to picket the Hope Clinic, despite being arrested, because he said reports of his arrests "keep the abortion issue in the public eye."

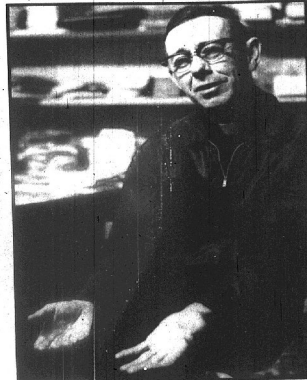

"For a long time people have not noticed the killings," he said. "By the arrests, people realize what's happening and more people will join the Pro-Lifers and help to stop the abortions."

Arentsen said he believes the Supreme Court's abortion decision will be overturned during the Reagan administration. He said he has heard two Supreme Court justices are ready to retire and the appointment of two new justices, who are sympathetic to the Pro-Life cause, is expected.

In the meantime, Arentsen said he will continue to picket abortion clinics throughout the St. Louis area, and continue to be arrested.

Although the priest has spent nearly 40 days in jail, he views the time served as a "relaxing" experience. He prefers to think of the "good things" connected with his jailing.

"Where else can you get breakfast in bed?" Arentsen asked. "They prepare all of your meals for you and you don't even have to do the dishes. You can watch TV, play cards or checkers and take a nap whenever you want."

"It's something very easy in a way — when you consider the sacrifice of others. Jesus Christ gave his life for us and St. Peter, Paul and John the Baptist were all in jail and died there for their beliefs."

Though Arentsen, who grew up on a family farm, has taken a peaceful approach to his protests since his first arrest — when he shoved police officers — he is not opposed to actions by others.

Arentsen said he is not opposed to bombing clinics since he views the destruction as necessary to stop killing unborn babies.

He also said he does not agree with jailing the Army of God members who kidnapped Dr. Hector and Rosalie Zevallos. Hector Zevallos formerly operated the Hope Clinic, 1602 21st St.

"The overall effect of their (the Army of God) actions was that there were less abortions performed and there are more babies alive now," Arentsen said. "I can't see any wrong in babies being alive — more good came from their actions than evil."

Arentsen said he has written to Don Benny Anderson, one of those convicted in the Zevallos' kidnapping, at a Wisconsin jail. He said Anderson wrote back.

OF CONVICTIONS

"It's costing the taxpayers $1 million to keep them (the Army of God) in jail," he said, shaking his head. The priest said strong action, like that taken by the Army of God, is necessary because the Supreme Court has been slow in reversing its abortion decision.

Arentsen said the abortion issue would have been overturned long ago if more people had committed themselves to the cause as he has.

"I am convinced that if a bishop would have been arrested for his demonstrations against abortion, this fight would have been over by now," he said.

The clergyman said he knows of only two others priests who have been arrested for their Pro-Life activities — one resides in Florida, the other in California. He said he has corresponded with the Florida priest, who used a sledgehammer to vent his feelings toward abortion facilities.

According to Arentsen, the three bishops he has served, since taking his strong anti-abortion stand, have had varying reactions to his activities.

"Bishop Cosgrove did call me up and was concerned that I did not become too violent in my endeavors," said Arentsen, who has served several area parishes, including East St. Louis, Breese, St. Libory and Belleville.

Of the late Bishop John Worm, Arentsen said the Catholic leader was "sympathetic" to his cause.

"And yet he did not commit himself, but in the end, I believe we saw very much eye to eye," Arentsen said. Keleher, currently bishop, has not contacted Arentsen about his activities, according to Arentsen.

In a statement given to this newspaper, Keleher endorsed Arentsen's cause.

"While the church does not encourage civil disobedience and certainly does not promote violence — even for the sake of justice — Catholic bishops, clergy, all people of faith and good will, do applaud the efforts of people like Father Arentsen and other Pro-Life activists when they show ongoing leadership in the struggle to protect unborn life, whether at a clinic in Granite City or in a hospital in Carbondale," Keleher said.

Arentsen does not plan to give up his activities, but he said he will probably "give the Granite City police a break" since he intends to picket abortion clinics in Carbondale and Champaign in coming months.

He was on hand April 6 when 10 persons were arrested at the Hope Clinic. He verbalized his contempt for abortion during the protest, but true to his word, he was not among those arrested.

Arts grant to Madison schools

Illinois Attorney General Neil F. Hartigan is distributing $13,794 in awards for visual arts programs to 155 schools throughout the state, including $847 to Madison School District 12.

The money, in a special anti-trust account in Hartigan's office, represents Illinois' share of a Federal Trade Commission settlement of an anti-trust case brought by the FTC against various manufacturers and suppliers of art materials. Defendants had sold art supplies to the schools.

To disburse the funds, Hartigan established the grant program, which was approved by the FTC. Schools receiving the Illinois awards were chosen by the State Board of Education, which reviewed the schools' applications. All awards are $1,000 or less.

GCC helps children develop basic skills

"Sunday, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, Saturday," Rachel Kulasza recited. Rachel's teacher put a red star on her right hand for saying the days of the week correctly.

Rachel and her brother, Tyler, attend Belleville Area College's (BAC) Granite City Center (GCC) Child Sitting Service while their mother, Judy Kulasza, teaches classes at GCC.

Besides learning the days of the week, children at the center also work on developing other basic skills.

Susan Doty, GCC's Child Sitting Center director, explained the activities.

"We are not just a babysitting service," she said. "We work on basic skills with the children while they are here."

"We work on basic motor and perceptual skills. We work on their motor skills through cutting exercises and organized games. Their perceptual skills are improved through daily exercises in counting, number and letter recognition, and color and shape recognition."

"We also entertain them by reading stories to them," she said.

The children get a chance to build social skills by their interaction with the other children.

Doty, a Granite City resident, became the center's director this February. Before coming to GCC, she taught first and second graders at Lake School in Granite City. She has a bachelor's degree from Greenville College.

Doty and her staff kept the morning's activities moving as the children continued to be dropped off by their parents. Some of the parents, like Rachel's, teach at GCC. Others are students and staff at the center.

The service provides convenient, low-cost child care for students, staff and teachers when they are on campus. This helps make it possible for them to work, teach or take classes.

'We are not just a babysitting service.'

Susan Doty

Parents can bring their potty-trained, 2 to 5 year olds to the center from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. for $1.50 per hour for each additional child from the same family.

Doty led the 2 to 5-year-olds in counting from 1 to 20. She also worked on their number recognition and calendar skills by placing a number 21 (that day's date) shaped like a shamrock on the March calendar.

Renee Cortez, a two-year-old from Granite City, wasn't quite sure where her ankles were when the boys were pointing to the parts of the body. She quickly imitated the other children and touched her ankles.

After Doty led the children in more marching, balancing, hopping and running exercises to the beat of an instructional tape, she and the other staff members helped the children make bunny rabbits for Easter decorations.

"We're going to color these bunnies pink," Doty said. "Color them all over, real fast, like a bunny."

Doty's staff includes Edna Fears and Jess Brumagin, senior aid volunteers; Vernice Walter, an RSVP (Retired Senior Volunteer Program) volunteer; and Letitia Miller and Allisha Jones, student workers.

Edna Fears, a Granite City resident for the last 21 years, has been at the center since October 1983.

Earlier, Fears worked at Granite City's YMCA child-care service and helped run the Humpty Dumpty Day Care Center in Granite City.

"I know just about all the kids in Granite City," she said. "I see a lot of my kids in the halls here."

"I enjoy being with younger people more than the elderly. I think it keeps you thinking and staying young."

Fears has six children and six grandchildren, living in Granite City, West Frankfort and California.

Brumagin, a 72-year-old Granite City resident, is the first and only man who has worked in the center.

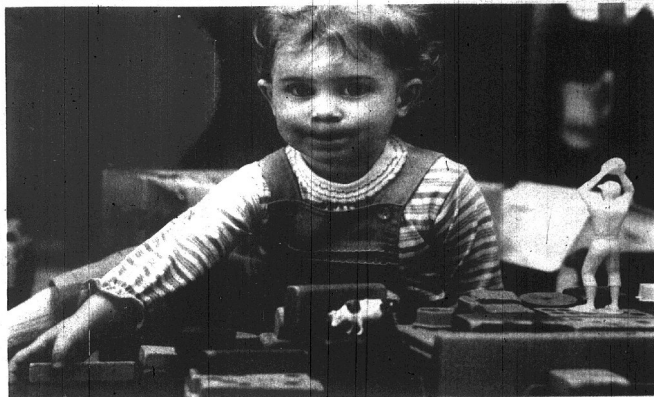

Before retiring, he was in the clothing business. He owned his own store in Elsberry, Mo.

Brumagin said he heads to the children, helps them make pictures to go on the wall and helps take the boys to the bathroom.

Doty said the little boys think it's nice to have someone take them to the boys' restroom.

Miller graduated from Venice High School in May 1984. She's been working at the center since last September.

She takes 15 hours of classes at GCC and also works at St. Clair

Square on the days she is not working at the center.

Miller plans to major in nursing. She wanted to work at the center to gain experience working with children.

"I wanted to improve my attitude toward smaller kids," she said. "I felt this was the way to do it."

"I enjoy working with kids. Every day something new is happening."

Walter, a 74-year-old Granite City resident, started volunteering her time at the center in fall 1983.

"I don't have any grandchildren of my own," she said. "So I had to come out and get acquainted with these children."

She said she has been doing church work since she was in a country church then," she said.

Miller has also worked with children at church camps and in 4-H clubs.

She is active in the gerontology program at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

As it got closer to lunch time, several of the children's parents came to pick them up.

When Rachel Kulasza's mother came to take her home, her mother asked her if she was ready to go home.

"No," Rachel said. She wanted to stay and make more pink Easter bunnies.

Merideth Knezevich's mother, Katherine Knezevich, said Merideth really likes to come to the center.

"She really likes it here," she said. "They have lots of parties. She had ice cream at their St. Patrick's Day party. She also got to take home a balloon."

She said Merideth stays at the center five days a week.

Three-year-old Mindy Smith, daughter of Mike and Sharon Smith from Granite City, finished her Easter bunny. She played with it on the table, pretending it was alive.

"Hop, hop, hop," she said, as she made it hop across the table. Then she handed it to her teacher so it could be added to the other Easter decorations in the room.

As the children departed, they left pink bunnies with straw whiskers hanging from the ceiling, ready to greet them the next time they came to the center.

Wins 98-county MS read-a-thon contest

Dixie Lynn Price, 11-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Price, 2319 Zippel Ave., is the first-place winner in the Multiple Sclerosis read-a-thon 98-county wide area. She was presented with a special award for raising more than $3,000, taking top honors for three consecutive years.

Honorary chairman, Jim Hart said, "Dixie is a credit to her community and an example of how much one person can accomplish when she sets her goals high." The retired football quarterback personally congratulated her and presented a "three-time winner" award.

As an MS Mystery Sleuth, Price helped raise funds to try to find a cure for multiple sclerosis. Donna Price said her daughter has a special reason for participating in the program, since she (Mrs. Price) is a victim of the disease.

The mother said, "MS affects the central nervous system and can cause tremors of the hand, affect the ability to walk and be the source of eye problems, among other complications. Each person with the disease is affected in a different way."

"They don't know the cause. Therefore, there is no cure. With so many options to explore for a cure, money for research is important at this time," she said.

Besides raising funds for research, the MS read-a-thon project provides money for the Gateway Area "loan closet" of canes, walkers and other aides to MS victims.

Individuals here pledged contributions for each book read by Dixie Price, who has read more than 100 books for the event.

DIXIE, right, gives victory smile.

Defendant found Big Bad Wolf tried, convicted of murder

Guilty!

Who's afraid of the big bad wolf? The three little pigs, that's who!
In a mock trial held in the main courtroom at Granite City Hall recently, 7th and 8th grade Coolidge Junior High School students debated the role of wolf played in killing two of the three little pigs and the attempted murder of the third squealer.

About 60 students, enrolled in a class for gifted children, participated in the proceedings. Preparation for the trial, which took nearly three months, was supervised by their instructor, Edward M. Schroeder.

The case was heard by "Judge" Gregory Becker, a local lawyer. The trial alleged the wolf went to the first pig's home, which was made of sticks, and blew the house down — after which the wolf ate the poor creature. The charges went on to say the wolf did the same to the second pig, whose home was made of hay. The third pig, who has a home of brick, was allegedly accosted by the wolf, but escaped unharmed.

Although the wolf's past crimes were not allowed to be entered in court, he has a long history of wrong-doing — at least in the fairy tales. For instance, he ate Little Red Riding Hood's grandmother, although he was never convicted of the crime.

The wolf also was responsible for killing the little boy who cried wolf. He squeaked out of this offense too.

The trial concerning the harassment and ultimate killings of two of the three little pigs was a different story for the wolf, however.

The prosecution lawyers, Brian Jones and Richard Harmon, built a strong case against the animal.

These lawyers produced a surprise witness, Sheri Chandler, who testified that the wolf is a member of the mob. Chandler told jurors she was in mob headquarters the day the wolf accepted the contract to kill the pigs.

She said she had personally deposited $10,000 in the wolf's bank account, for the organization, as an advance for the killings.

The wolf (portrayed by Jennifer Hagnauer) jumped out of her seat at this point and shouted, "That's a lie, that's a lie!" The wolf had to be calmed down before the trial could continue.

The defense lawyers, Eun Jeong Han and Caryn Haddix, refuted Chandler's testimony by calling their surprise witness, Kim Paulak. She is the best friend of the Rev. Ryan, better known as the third little pig.

Paulak said she had met the pig at Charlie's Restaurant one night, to help her celebrate her birthday. After a few drinks, the pig broke down and started crying, she said.

When Paulak asked her what was wrong, the pig allegedly admitted to having killed her two brothers so she would inherit some valuable family stock.

Paulak said the porker was upset because the stock's value had dropped drastically and she had "killed her brothers for nothing."

In the cross-examination of Paulak, however, the prosecution questioned the credibility of the witness after it was learned the pig had stolen Paulak's boyfriend. The prosecution contended that Paulak really hated the pig and would do anything to get even with her.

But the defense was not finished with their case yet! It was learned from the wolf's doctor that the wolf suffered from asthma. The doctor contended the wolf never could have blown down the houses of sticks or hay because of his condition.

It was noted the wolf had been displaying asthma symptoms — coughing and sneezing — throughout the trial.

After all of the facts were in, the jury deliberated for about 30 minutes. Their verdict, by an 8 to 4 vote, was to convict the wolf on all three counts.

According to a source close to the jury, the group could have deliberated much longer, but the bus that was to take them back to school was leaving and they had no time.

All in all, the trial took about six hours. It is not clear whether or not the wolf will appeal the decision.

THE JURY looks on before coming down with its decision.

THE LAW AND YOU

BY RICK REED
Attorney At Law

Let's assume that a husband and wife own a $50,000 home in joint tenancy. They have one child who is 30 years of age. If the husband dies first, the ownership of the house would pass to the wife as the surviving joint tenant. The question often arises as to whether the widow should put her son's name on the deed after the death of her husband.

The widow in this situation has several options. She can continue to own the property in her name individually. The advantage in this arrangement is that she will not be giving an interest in her property to any other person during her lifetime. If she does not remarry, and does not indicate a contrary intention in her will, the property will pass to her son upon her death. However, because she did not add his name to the deed, he will have to go through probate to get the property in his name after her death. Whenever someone dies owning real estate individually, the estate must be probated.

Another option is for the widow to add her son's name to the deed as a joint tenant with her. Upon her death, the real estate would pass to him as a surviving joint tenant. This is certainly the simplest way for the son to obtain title to the property upon her death. One problem with the widow giving him an interest in the property during her lifetime, however, is that she will lose the ability to convey the property without his consent. Furthermore, there are certain actions the son could take which would jeopardize his interest in the property during her lifetime.

Probably the best solution to the widow's predicament after her husband's death is to give herself a "life estate" in the property with the "remainder" to her son. What this means is that the woman has an absolute right to the ownership and possession of the home during her lifetime, and upon her death, it will pass to her son. The deed itself will transfer the property to her son when she dies without the necessity of probate. This option gives the widow the best of both worlds in that it protects her interest now but yet allows a transfer of the property directly to her son upon her death.

THANK YOU MADISON!!

We the NEW LIFE CANDIDATES wish to thank the voters of MADISON for putting their trust in us on Tuesday, April 2, 1985. Be assured we will do our best.

A SPECIAL THANKS is in our hearts for all the people, of all ages that worked hard, in so many ways, for our election. Working together this is a victory, not for seven candidates, this is a victory to be shared by all the citizens of Madison.

SHRIMP AND ORANGE SALAD WITH APPLES

1 1/2 lbs. medium-size shrimp, shelled and deveined,
reserving shells for fumet
(fish stock)
Fumet:
Shrimp shells
1 carrot, peeled and coarsely
chopped
1 stalk celery, coarsely
chopped
1 onion, coarsely chopped
2 cloves garlic, crushed
2 parsley sprigs
6 peppercorns
2 qts. cold water
1 cup Chardonnay or quality
dry white wine
Salt and pepper to taste

Salad:
1 orange
1/2 cup finely chopped Pippin or Granny Smith apple
1/2 cup finely chopped celery
1/2 cup quality mayonnaise
1 1/2 tbsps. Grey Poupon mustard
Salt and pepper to taste

To make the fumet: In medium-size stock pot that is not aluminum, combine fish stock ingredients except wine. Slowly bring stock to boil, reduce heat and simmer stock for 15 minutes. Add wine and simmer stock for additional 15 minutes.

Strain stock and bring just liquid back to simmer. Poach shrimp in simmering stock for 4 to 5 minutes. Remove shrimp from stock and allow to cool. Reserve some whole shrimp for garnish.

Finely chop the rind of orange, reserving 1/2 teaspoon. Juice orange and place juice in small mixing bowl. After chopping apple, immediately place apple in orange juice to avoid discoloring.

Coarsely chop shrimp and place in large mixing bowl. Add finely chopped celery and apples to shrimp. The apples will carry some of the orange juice with them; do not add additional juice to salad. Add mayonnaise, mustard, orange rind, salt and pepper to salad.

Taste for seasonings. Since orange's flavor will bloom and develop, taste only for subtle orange flavor. Add more apples or mustard if their flavors are not noticed. The flavors in salad should blend together; no one flavor should be dominant.

To serve, place portion of salad on plate, surround with curly leaf or endive lettuce. Garnish with whole shrimp.
Serves 4 for luncheon entree or 6 as first course.
(Wine accompaniment: Chardonnay.)

pork tenderloin, at room temperature
1/2 cup Chardonnay or dry white wine
2 tbsps. water
1 clove garlic, mashed
2 tps. fresh sage or 3/4 tsp.
dried rubbed sage Salt and white pepper to taste
1 egg yolk
2 tps. Dijon mustard
1/2 cup heavy cream
1/2 tsp. brandy

Gremolata:
1/2 cup chopped parsley
1/2 tsp. chopped lemon zest
1/2 tsp. finely chopped garlic
1/2 tsp. finely chopped fresh sage (If fresh sage is not available, omit and use only the previous three ingredients)

Place pork tenderloin on oiled roasting pan and roast in 350° F oven for 25 minutes per pound, or until meat thermometer reads 160. Remove tenderloin from roasting pan and place on cutting board; cover meat with foil. Let rest 15 minutes for better slicing.

On medium heat, deglaze roasting pan with wine and water. Add garlic, sage and salt and pepper to roasting pan. Reduce liquid by one-third. Pour reduced liquid into saucepan and place over low heat.
In small bowl, combine egg yolk and mustard; whisk in heavy cream.

Whisk small amount of hot, reduced liquid into cream mixture.
Slowly, whisk warmed cream mixture into saucepan. Over low heat, gently cook sauce until thickened; do not allow sauce to boil because it may curdle.
Add brandy to sauce and taste for seasonings. Slice tenderloin and place on serving plates. Lightly coat with sauce. Garnish with sprinkling of gremolata.
Serves 6.

Italy offers some good whites

By Dan Berger
Copley News Service

As good as the red wines of Italy are, it's a curiosity that so few of the whites offer any interest.

To be sure, there are some lovely examples of light, delicate white wines being made today.
Most of them have plenty of acidity and they are fresh and delicate.
One of the best white table wines of Italy is called Gavi, or more formally, Cortese di Gavi.
The Cortese di Gavi grape that makes this wine is unknown outside the region of Piedmont where it grows, and when made right can offer wine of uncommon delicacy and intrigue.

One major problem with Gavi, however, is price. Because of high demand, Gavi can run $10 a bottle or more, and I rarely have tasted one that I thought was worth that kind of money.

Soave is well known in the United States as the wide-production wine that is affordable. Yet it offers little in terms of interest.
Most Soave is OK to quaff on a warm day, at lunch, but most wine lovers would scarcely think of it as a fine wine. It is simply so, well, simple.

Soave Soala clearly is the most popular Soave around, and an enormous amount of it is made, making for a rather bland approach. Many others offer better wine for the same money. Pieropan makes a Soave that annually reaches peaks of fresh sprightliness.

One of the problems with riesling in Italy is that the climate is warm in most regions, and the resulting aroma of the wines from true German Rhine Riesling (called riesling renano in Italy) is not the traditional fresh, apple one we come to think of as riesling.

Moreover, adding to the confusion, there is a second variety of riesling, called riesling italico (for Italian riesling). That can be confusing to the buyer because a wine marked simply "riesling" rarely is identified as to which one it is. Only tasting it will tell which grape you are getting.

But even if you find an italico riesling, I have found it is rarely as rewarding as German Riesling, which often sells for about the same price.

Making the greatest impact in Italian white wines in the last half decade is the sauvignon blanc grape. It is planted in many regions, and generally does best in cool Friuli, which borders on Austria and Yugoslavia and is cooled by Alpine air.

Some of the versions of Sauvignon Blanc I have tried are exceptional, offering freshness and varietal character and usually at a reasonable price — under $7.
Since the best California Sauvignon Blancs now are in the $5 to $8 range, Italian Sauvignon Blanc can offer an excellent buy, but they must be carefully chosen. A few I have had lack any character at all.

Friuli's other favorite white wine varieties include pinot bianco (the same variety called pinot blanc in France) and pinot grigio.

Both are light wines, but both are capable of improving for two years in the bottle.

Pudding's popularity increases

Puddings are making a comeback for everyone. Found among convenience foods in supermarkets, are puddings frozen on a stick, packaged in individual cup containers and even piped into the center of cakes.

On the other hand, with American cooking in its glory, homemade old-fashioned pudding is what growing numbers of people long for. It comes home from the market, is featured in some of the best restaurants and invites a family home with home-cooked success.

Puddings were at the height of popularity in the late 1800s, a time when cornstarch as a thickener was beginning to be packaged. An 18-page booklet published for the 1876 Centennial in Philadelphia, by T. Kingsford and Son, who later merged with Argo, contained 35 pudding recipes. One, called Osewego Pudding, is in essence a Queen of Bread Puddings.

During this period there were entire cookbooks devoted to puddings. Two such were the "Book of Forty Puddings" by Susan Anna Brown, published in 1882, and "Puddings and Dainty Desserts" by Thomas J. Murrey, published in 1886. From "The Book of Forty Puddings" comes this verse, as pertinent today as in 1882.

*Though fortune frown and skies are drear,
And friends are changing year by year,
One thing is always sure to please,
Just give him pudding such as these.*

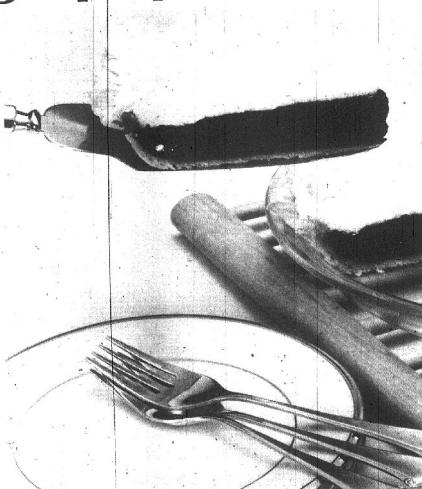

Butterscotch Pudding

1/2 cup firmly packed brown sugar
1/4 cup cornstarch
1/2 tsp. salt
2 cups milk
2 tbsp. margarine
1 tsp. vanilla
In 2-quart saucepan, stir together sugar, cornstarch and salt. Gradually stir in milk until smooth. Stirring constantly, bring to boil over medium heat and boil 1 minute. Remove from heat. Stir in margarine and vanilla.

Four into serving dish or individual dishes. Cover; refrigerate. Makes 4 servings.

Chocolate Pudding Pie

1/2 cup sugar
1/4 cup cornstarch
1/2 tsp. salt
2 cups milk
3 egg yolks, slightly beaten
2 squares (1 oz. each) un-

CHOCOLATE CREAM PIE

sweetened chocolate, coarsely chopped

1 tsp. vanilla
1 baked (9-inch) pastry shell
3 egg whites, at room temperature
6 tsp. sugar

In 2-quart saucepan, stir together 1/2 cup sugar, cornstarch and salt. Gradually stir in milk until smooth. Stir in egg yolks; add chocolate.

Stirring constantly, bring to boil over medium-low heat and boil 1 minute. Remove from heat. Stir in vanilla.
Turn into large bowl; cover surface with waxed paper or plastic wrap. Cool slightly (no longer than 1 hour). Spoon filling into pastry shell.

In small bowl with mixer at high speed, beat egg whites until soft peaks form. Gradually beat in 6 tablespoons sugar until stiff peaks form. Spread over filling sealing to edge of crust.

Bake in 350° oven 15 to 12 minutes or until slightly browned. Cook at room temperature away from drafts.

Makes 8 servings.

Queen Of Bread Puddings

1/2 cup sugar
3 tbsp. cornstarch
1/2 tsp. salt
2 1/2 cups milk

Red devil's food delightful; charmingly different

1/2 cup butter-flavored shortening
1 1/2 cups sugar
1 tsp. vanilla
2 eggs
2 squares (1 oz. each) unsweetened baking chocolate, melted
1 cup buttermilk
1 tsp. red food color
1 1/2 cups sifted flour
1 tsp. baking soda
1/2 tsp. salt

Generously grease and flour two 9-inch round layer pans or line with waxed paper.
Cream shortening and sugar until light and fluffy in large bowl of electric mixer. Add vanilla, eggs and melted chocolate; blend well.

Combine buttermilk and food color.
Combine flour with soda and salt. Add flour and buttermilk alternately to creamed mixture using low speed of mixer.
Pour batter evenly into prepared pans. Bake at 350° for 25 to 30 minutes or until toothpick inserted in center comes out clean.
Cool 5 minutes. Remove from pans. Cool completely. Frost with Fluffy Frosting.
Yields two 9-inch layers.

Remove from oven and cool in pan 15 minutes, then brush top with remaining tablespoon liqueur.

Coconut creates desserts

Serving pearly white coconut seems especially fitting during winter. Big chewy flakes make a snowy garnish for cakes and candies. Chopped coconut adds a touch of the tropics to winter salads and sauces.

If you've always shied away from coconut as a hard nut to crack, try these simple suggestions.

Homemade candy is a winner at any time of the year. For a fast and fabulous treat, start with a tub of creamy chocolate frosting. These could be the best rum balls you'll ever make. For certain, they will be the easiest.

Create a chocolate coconut swirl in a classic bundt cake. The recipe is right here.

COCONUT-RUM BALLS

2 cups graham cracker crumbs
1/2 cup flaked or shredded coconut
1 1/4 cup chopped nuts
1 tub Betty Crocker Creamy Deluxe chocolate ready-to-spread frosting
1 tablespoon light rum or 1/2 teaspoon rum flavoring
Flaked or shredded coconut
Mix graham cracker crumbs, 1/2 cup coconut, the nuts, frosting and rum in medium bowl with fork. Shape mixture by teaspoonfuls into 1-inch balls; roll in coconut. Store in tightly covered container. 4 1/2 to 5 dozen candies.

Coconut-Amaretto Balls: Substitute 1 tub Betty Crocker Creamy Deluxe cherry ready-to-spread frosting for the chocolate frosting and 1 tablespoon amaretto liqueur for the rum.

Coconut-Bourbon Balls: Substitute 1 tub Betty Crocker Creamy Deluxe butter pecan ready-to-spread frosting for the chocolate frosting and 1 tablespoon bourbon for the rum.

Tangy Coconut-Citrus Balls: Substitute 1 tub Betty Crocker Creamy Deluxe orange ready-to-spread frosting for the chocolate frosting and 1 tablespoon orange-flavored liqueur for the rum.

COCOA REVEL CAKE

1/2 cup packed brown sugar
3 tablespoons cocoa
1/4 cup all-purpose flour
2 tablespoons margarine or butter, softened
1 package Betty Crocker SuperMoist yellow cake mix
1 cup water
1/2 cup vegetable oil
3 eggs
Cocoa Butter Glaze (below)
Flaked coconut

Heat oven to 350°. Grease and flour 12-cup bundt cake pan. Mix brown sugar, cocoa, flour and margarine until crumbly; stir in 1/2 cup coconut and reserve. Beat cake mix (dry), water, oil and eggs in large bowl on low speed, scraping bowl constantly, until mois-tened, about 15 seconds. Beat on medium speed, scraping bowl frequently, 2 minutes. Pour about 3 cups batter into pan; sprinkle with reserved cocoa mixture.

Pour remaining batter into pan. Bake until cake springs back when touched lightly in center, 45 to 50 minutes. Cool 10 minutes; invert on wire rack or heatproof serving plate. Remove pan; cool cake completely. Spread with Cocoa Butter Glaze, allowing some to drizzle down side; immediately sprinkle with coconut.

Cocoa Butter Glaze:
1 tablespoon margarine or butter
2 tablespoons cocoa
1 cup powdered sugar
1 to 2 teaspoons water

Heat margarine in 2-quart saucepan until melted. Stir in cocoa and 1 tablespoon water until smooth; remove from heat. Stir in powdered sugar. Mix in water, 1 teaspoon at a time, until of desired consistency.

Blend cream cheese and milk into a smooth mixture. Beat in soup mix, sour cream, chili sauce, lemon juice and horseradish.
 Serve with fresh vegetable sticks, assorted chips or crackers.
 Makes about 2 1/2 cups.

Hard-cooked egg

A simple sauce for dark green vegetables is Deviled Butter. To make it, cream a stick of butter with 2 hard-cooked eggs, sieved, 4/5 teaspoon white vinegar, 1 teaspoon each of fresh lemon juice and mustard and 1/4 teaspoon cayenne pepper.

Yogurt lime dip

 4 cups thin potato slices
 2 tsp. chopped chives

In large saucepan, combine cream cheese, milk, salt and pepper; stir over low heat until smooth.

 Stir before serving. To make ahead, prepare as directed except for baking. Cover; refrigerate overnight. When ready to serve, bake as directed.
 Makes 6 servings.

Fruit and cheese

Kabobs may have begun in nomadic times when chunks of meat were roasted on a stick. Special versions of this roasted meat are found today in the cuisines of everyone from the Middle East to the Orient, from the American Southwest to the Girl and Boy Scouts.
 Pineapple chunks, melon balls, whole strawberries, pieces of orange and tangerine and green or red grapes are other good candidates for fruit and cheese kabobs. Fruits like apples and pears which may discolor should be dipped in lemon juice.

Usually a sharp cheese blends well with a mild or sweet fruit, but personal taste should set the rule.

Jelly muffins

1/2 cup creamy peanut butter
 1 egg, beaten

1/2 cup milk
 1 box (7 oz.) bran muffin mix
 2 tsp. grape jelly
 Beat peanut butter, egg and milk until smooth. Stir in muffin mix.
 Spoon two rounded teaspoons of batter into greased muffin pan cup. Spoon 1/2 teaspoon jelly on top of batter. Top with one tablespoon batter. Repeat with remaining batter.
 Bake 15 to 18 minutes at 350°.
 Makes 6 to 8 muffins.

Chocolate dip

Combine a broken 4-ounce milk chocolate bar and 2 tablespoons milk in saucepan. Cook and stir over low heat until chocolate is melted. On place chocolate and milk in small microwave-proof bowl. Microwave at medium 1 minute; stir once halfway through cooking time. Dip pear wedges in warm chocolate sauce, then into chopped nuts. Makes 1/2 cup sauce.

Avoid No-Hitter

Warriors, Hylla spoil twinbill for 'spoilors'

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER
Executive Sports Editor

GRANITE CITY — In the beginning, Providence of New Lenox was the spoiler. Coming to the warmer southland, the Celtics were looking to bring some northern chills south to Granite City High's Varsity Field.

And they did too, conspicuously silencing the Warriors' bats in a double-header, winning the first game 10-4 and the nightcap 5-0.

The Celtics, rated fourth and sixth in two statewide Class AA baseball polls, were the spoilers.

But in the end, when it came down to the final out, it was the Warriors and Kurt Hylla who ultimately became the spoilers. They were the ones to turn the tables on Providence and near no-hit hurler Matt Senfner.

You see, through six and two-third innings of baseball in the nightcap, Senfner was pitching perfect hardball. Having registered 13 of his 14 strikeouts on the night by then, the Celtics' hurler was throwing a pitcher's dream — a no-hitter.

But then came Hylla.

Batting fifth in the Warrior lineup, Hylla blasted a two-and-two pitch down the right field line for a double and in the process became the spoiler's spoiler.

"It was a fastball," Hylla said describing the pitch after the game. "All I was trying to do was swing and make contact. It feels pretty good (to have spoiled the no-hitter)," Hylla said.

And what did the hard-throwing, All-State Senfner think about Hylla's hit?

"Hey, those things happen. It could have happened sooner, but as it was it came down to the final out," Senfner said.

"I was getting tired. Coach (Jaime Garcia) asked me the inning before how I felt and I lied. I told him I was alright, but I knew I wasn't. My arm was getting sore. I guess, oh, maybe my fastball was off 20 percent at that time. But, I wanted to finish. I knew I had a no-hitter going and I wanted to try to see it out," said the right-handed senior pitcher.

Garcia said he knew Senfner was beginning to drop off the pace, but he left him in anyway.

"It's pretty hard to pull a kid when he's got a no-hitter going, but I knew he was beginning to lose a little fire on his pitches," Garcia said. "But their kid, Hylla, he came through for them. He got a hold fastball up and away and punched it out. It was a good, solid hit. I'm just glad — glad for Matt (Senfner) — that it was a good hit and not a chinker," Garcia said.

The victory improved Senfner's record to 2-0 on the season and the Celtics' tally to 7-1. The Warriors, who the night before bettered New Athens 4-3 at home, fell to .500, now carrying a 6-6 record. Matt Roe, who pitched five full innings, took the loss for the Warriors. It was Roe's first start.

In the first game, the Warriors battled the Celtics to a 1-1 tie after the first inning, then a 2-1 ball game through the fourth before Providence erupted for a total of eight runs in the final three innings.

innings, the Warriors threatened a comeback in their half of the sixth. Jimmy Chomko reached on an error to start the inning and then Providence's hard-throwing John DeJarlis gave up one of his three walks of the afternoon to Shane Cole to put runners at first and second.

Then Randy Burgess, the Warriors' cleanup hitter, did just that. He cleaned up by rapping one of DeJarlis's 30-plus mile per hour fastballs out of the park. The three-run blast moved the Warriors to within two, 6-4.

"It was a sweet one. A real sweet pitch," Burgess said of the home run pitch after circling the bases. "A fastball, gut level."

Despite the Burgess' smash which transplanted some of the enthusiasm from Providence's bench to the Warrior pine, the Warriors couldn't contain the Celtics in the final inning as Providence went to score four more times in seventh.

Enroute to the victory, DeJarlis managed three strikeouts while dishing out seven walks in his seven-inning performance.

The Warriors' starting hurler, Jeff Zukas, pitched well through five innings before getting into trouble in the sixth. Taking the loss, Zukas, was relieved by Tom Warfield in the sixth, and Greg Ehlers and Tim Gray in the seventh.

Despite dropping both games to the Celtics, Warrior coach Bob Stegemeier praised his crew after the ball game.

"We played an excellent ball club tonight," Stegemeier began. "They're well coached and they're very enjoyable to watch. Maybe our kids can learn a little bit from playing kids like this. That's why we hope anyway. That's why we play the better ballclubs."

"We're not a bad ballclub by any means, but we need to learn to hit really good pitching. We haven't learned that yet. But fortunately, good ol' Kurt (Hylla) came through for us tonight. He saved us the embarrassment of the no-hitter."

Then Stegemeier turned his praise towards his pitching crew. "I think Matt Roe did a fine job pitching tonight, going four innings and giving up just a run. And, I think Jeff Zukas did a fine job for four innings in the first game. Again, this was a very good, very classy ballclub," Stegemeier said.

Indeed they are. The Celtics, who finished last season with a 29-5 record, have three All-Staters returning with this year's squad: Catcher Eric Ulmer displayed his All-State performances with rocket-like throws to second base; Senfner, who came out away from a no-hitter, is another All-Stater while shortstop Burke Masters is the Celtic's third All-Stater.

Against New Athens Tuesday, the Warriors battled the Yellow Jackets tooth and nail through the first six innings before scoring the winning run in the bottom of the seventh.

Tied at three, pinch-hitting John Konkovich dued New Athens' hurler Wayne Nadler before getting a fourth ball. Konkovich stole second base to make room on first for Fred Becker who also reached on a walk.

With runners at first and second, Bill Moore attempted a sacrifice bunt designed to move the runner along, but instead got that and more. Moore's bunt was mishandled as he reached to load the bases.

The game ended shortly thereafter as Konkovich stole his way home on a wild pitch to give the Warriors the go-ahead run.

Girls' Soccer Spartans no match for GCHS kickers

By JOE THOMPSON
Staff writer

ST. LOUIS — Coach Mike Velloff of the Granite City High girls soccer team will tell you he didn't know what to expect Friday afternoon.

The Lady Warriors' match with Hazelwood East at the Spartans' sports complex was their first in 17 days. "We worked on some things in practice, but it's nothing like a game," he said.

Velloff also didn't know what the Spartans record was, but found out shortly after arriving: 5-0.

On top of that, gale-like gusts whipped across the field. Velloff planned for the Lady Warriors to play Velloff with the wind in the first half, taking chances it might peter out in the second half.

When the referee tossed the coin, "Heads," Warrior tri-captains Kathy Thornberry, Maria Parra and Dawn Schwartz called out.

Tails, it was. The Lady Warriors would play INTO the wind that first half.

Perhaps the biggest reason for Velloff's uncertainty was the big event Saturday night in which the Lady Warriors would take part.

"From night. That's the big dance," pointed out Velloff, who couldn't be blamed if he was concerned the girls might be thinking about guys instead of goals.

All question marks were soon answered. "Once they got into the flow of the game," said Velloff, which wasn't long at all, "they kind of dominated."

The Lady Warriors won, 2-0. They did "kind of" dominate, outshooting the Spartans, 11-9, and playing them to a scoreless tie in the first half, a victory of sorts considering the conditions.

The Warriors are 4-1. They face another stern test Monday when they host McCue North, which is unbeaten in six outings.

Sherry Dawson scored what proved to be the winning goal, chesting a shot past Spartan keeper Angie Viviano early in the second half.

Dawson fielded a corner kick from Stacie Foreman. It was a staunch effort by Dawson, considering she took the kick into the wind. "Nice," said Dawson.

The Warriors made the goal stand up until the final moments of the match, when Colleen Ryan knocked a shot into goal after taking a cross from Linda Kuberski.

It was a relief. Though the Warriors kept play in the Spartan side of the field most of the way, they learned from their only loss to Mehlville (which scored a tying goal with three seconds in regulation) that it's never over until it's over.

The match was not without controversy. Early in the second half with the contest still scoreless, Kuberski lined up for what, unbeknownst to her, was a "two touch" kick. That meant the ball had to be touched twice in order for a goal to occur.

"I misunderstood," said Kuberski, about her thundering kick she sailed over the wall of defense and into the goal.

Even then, the Lady Warriors appeared to get a break when the Spartan goalkeeper Viviano touched the ball before it went in. That meant the ball was touched twice.

The referee, however, ruled "no goal," claiming Viviano was standing inside the goal when she touched the ball. This meant the ball was touched only once.

Velloff sorely disagreed, looking down at the ground and kicking a blade of grass in disgust. Assistant coach Terry Moore put the unlikely of a goal standing inside the goal while trying to stop a shot in clearer perspective.

"Watch the moon tonight," Moore said. "See if it doesn't come out blue. That (such an occurrence) happens once in a blue moon."

The Spartans did have their chances. Their best came in the first half. A Spartan player launched a shot into the wind at the near post of the Warriors' goal.

"I just carried. I didn't think it would go that far. It just sailed through the air," said Warrior keeper Diane Takmajian, who managed to stop the shot.

That took in a lot of players, too.

Davis is brilliant for L&CCC's basketball squad

GODFREY — Trina Davis, a 1982 graduate of Granite City High School North, has completed her basketball career at Lewis and Clark Community College.

Davis, a sophomore, finished the season as the second leading scorer and rebounder for the Lady Bucks. Playing at a forward position, Velloff gave every one of his charges playing time.

He also took his time, of which he was reminded while standing outside the team bus talking about the game, the players inside waiting to go home. "It's Friday," one of the girls called out. One more night before Prom night.

Velloff was young once. "Have a good time at the dance," he told the girls afterward.

The Lady Warriors' varsity wasn't alone in the celebration. The junior varsity squad also won Friday, defeating Hazelwood East's Jayvee, 2-0. Maria Toenisketter and Jeannette Tichenor scored the goals.

The Jayvees are 5-1, losing to McCluer North Thursday, 1-0.

Davis averaged 15.4 points per game and 8.4 rebounds a contest. She helped Lewis and Clark Community College to a 24-10 record in 1985, the best in the school's history.

Only a spot starter in 1983-84, Davis became key member of the 1984-85 team. She was an honorable mention.

Softball Gris beat Redwings; now 1-3

By GREGG OCHOA
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Warrior coach Jim Davis didn't care how they got it, all he knew was his softball team needed a win — and had.

The Warriors went about it in business-like fashion and disposed of Alton 10-0 Friday in a five-inning game shortened by the 10-run rule. The game had been scheduled for Thursday but was cancelled because of wet playing conditions.

It was the first win of the season for Granite City (1-3) and the Southwestern Conference opener for the Warriors.

Senior Michelle Morgan pitched a four solid innings and issued just one hit — a third inning single by Amy Kohler, who was left stranded.

"I felt I could have gone the rest of the way," Morgan said, afterwards. "But Amy (Moss) was ready and if I had gotten into trouble (in the fifth) she wouldn't have been warmed up."

Moss, a junior transfer from Belleville, pitched the fifth inning, retiring all three batters she faced.

To cap things off, Moss' double in the bottom of the inning into center field scored Michelle Staggs with Granite's tenth run and officially ended the game.

"I told our girls if we keep plugging away sooner or later we would get that first win," Davis said.

The Warriors not only plugged away, they down right dominated the Redwings. Alton had just six base runners with just two reaching as far as third base. The Redwings never really threatened and only twice did they have more than two runners on base at a time.

"They were really a young team," Davis said. "But we did a lot of things right, in the field and at the plate. I'm glad for the girls that we got this one. You tend to get yourself in a rut sometimes when you don't win."

Granite City dashed to a 6-0 lead after the first two innings and never really was pushed.

In the first, three Alton errors allowed the Warriors to score three runs on just one base hit.

Lead-off batter Anne Puhse struck out, but reached when catcher Sarah Ratgeb dropped the third strike. Puhse stole second and scored on a single by Kathy Hutchings.

An error on a grounder hit by designated hitter Elaine Reinagel allowed Hutchings to score. Reinagel later scored on Ratgeb's second error of the game, a passed ball.

It was a bad day for Ratgeb who committed four of Alton's five errors. She was replaced by Annessa Silbwell in the middle of the second inning.

Kim Armour started the second inning with a single and moved to third on a hit by Morgan. Puhse reached base the same way she did in the first on a dropped third strike. And, when ball bounced to the backstop, Armour raced home.

Hutchings drove Morgan in with an RBI sacrifice fly and Karer. Sykes slapped a single in the hole at short scoring Puhse.

Good fielding allowed the Warriors to snuff out any Alton rallies.

For example, in the second, Armour doubled-up Jennifer McIlwaine off first with a running catch of a ball hit by Ann Lutes and a throw to Alicia Melton, filling in for the injured Jill Werth (out with back pains).

In the fourth, Puhse made a nice unassisted put out on a grounder off the bat of Wendy Kohler. Alton had runners on first and second at the time.

We made some solid defensive plays," Davis said. "We didn't get down after the three losses."

Granite City added a single run in the fourth to increase its lead to 7-0. Morgan, who reached base safely in both her times at bat, laid down a perfect bunt in front of the plate and scored on a single by Hutchings. It was the senior's third RBI of the game.

On the other side of the scoreboard, Alton wasn't able to produce much offense. Other and Kohler's third inning single, five walks were all the Redwings could muster.

Morgan fanned three batters and Moss struck out two Redwings. Granite City had nine hits and took advantage of five Alton errors — all of which occurred in the first two innings.

The Warriors rounded out the scoring with three runs in the fifth inning. Reinagel doubled into left and Keri Holtcamp reached on an infield hit. Staggs doubled both runners home. Moss then doubled home Skaggs to end the game.

Granite City was to defend its championship at the Rotary Tournament in St. Louis over the weekend. The Warriors then have three tough opponents on tap next week.

On Monday, Granite hosts Edwardsville. Belleville West will be at Wilson Park on Tuesday and on Thursday, the Warriors play perennial powerhouse Cahokia. All games start at 4 p.m.

Venice Red Devilettes scorch, Worden Trojans, 15-1

By JOE THOMPSON
Staff writer

VENICE — The Venice High Red Devilettes' softball team pounded out 11 hits and — more remarkably — pilfered eight bases as they socked it to Worden here Thursday, 15-1. The game was halted after four and a half innings because of the 10-run rule.

The victory evens the Red Devilettes' record at 1-1 and puts them on track to improve on their second-place finish last season in the Illinois Gateway Conference.

It was the first game of the season for Worden, who did not win in 10 tries last year.

In St. Louis, the kind of base running thievery the Red Devilettes demonstrated in their four innings of work could be labeled "Whiskey Ball" — in honor of the Redbird manager, Whiskey Herzog.

Rick Everage, not Herzog, is the head coach of the Red Devilettes. It was he who kept the "green light" flashing for his base running swiftness. It wasn't by chance, either.

"One of the first things I look at is how the catcher comes up," said Everage.

That is, does she come up with arm cocked and sights trained?

The Red Devilettes stole four bases in a three run first inning. They swiped three more in the third when — with the Worden defense caving in with eight errors — plated 10 runs to clinch the verdict.

The basepaths were no place for the faint-hearted and weak of bone.

Worden catcher Pam Garwood could manage to gun down two Red Devilette would-be base stealers.

Her first successful attempt, however, resulted in a brutal collision at third base, as Red Devil-ettes' Demetria Walker collided heavily into Julie Strader. Strader went tumbling backward after the contact and hit the ground hard. The ball spurted loose but Walker was ruled out.

There were no injuries. Just dirtied uniforms.

The Red Devilette speed showed itself in other ways. They beat out four infield hits.

"I didn't think we would have this many physical errors," Worden coach Mark Hatfield said analyzing the game. "Yeah, it (the outcome) was kind of what I expected."

Wakita Walker, Tina White and Rose Harmon each stole two bases for the Red Devilettes. In the slugging department, Melinda Burton led the way with three hits and three RBIs. She owned the Red Devilettes' only extra base blow — a triple.

Wakita Walker had two hits. Other than that, the attack was balanced, with Harmon, Demetria Walker, Chantley Bradley, Marita Bradley, Wendy King, and Julie Malheik each having a hit.

Harmon was the winning pitcher. She flirted with a no-hitter until Worden's Martina Mellenhuth single-

THE FAMOUS SUPERHERO

by Bill Owen
Don Sherwood

OF THE COMICS WAS ONCE A POPULAR RADIO SHOW. SUPERMAN FIRST CAME TO THE AIRWAVES VIA THE MUTUAL NETWORK IN 1940. BUD COLLYER, LATER A TELEVISION M.C., WAS THE MILD-MANNERED VOICE OF CLARK KENT AND THE DYNAMIC VOICE OF SUPERMAN.* COLLYER'S RELATIVELY HIGH-PITCHED TONE FOR KENT AND THEN A DEEP, POWERFUL TONE FOR SUPERMAN USUALLY CHANGED IN THE MIDDLE OF THE LINE...THIS LOOKS LIKE A JOB...FOR SUPERMAN!
